Judge R. W. Bingham has decided not to run for Mayor of Louisville.

Gov. McCreary's formal announcement for Senator was due to appear yesterday.

Mrs. A. T. Wood, of Mt. Sterling, the aged wife of the former pension agent, fell and fractured her hip.

Buffalo Bill, Col. W. F. Cody, has recovered from a sudden and critical attack of illness in Knoxville, Tenn.

Assistant Attorney General M. M. Logan has decided that frogs are not game and can be hunted without a hunting license.

The international association of the chiefs of police of the United States and Canada is in session this week in Washington.

Mr. G. H. Baskette, for 35 years identified with journalism in Nashville, has resigned his position as editor of the Nashville Democrat.

Emily Wilding Davison, the suffragette fanatic who threw herself in front of King George's race horse in a race at Epsom, England, died Sunday from her injuries.

Prince Albert Frederick George, King George's second son, now in Canada, visited the American side at Niagara Falls Saturday. He was traveling "incog" with 60 fellow cadets and his companions refused to point him out, but newspaper men finally identified him.

State Inspector and Examiner Sherman Goodpaster, in a report to Governor McCreary, severely criticizes the management of the Kentucky Children's Home Society as extravagant and says the salary of $5,000 paid Geo. L. Sehon, the President, is excessive, compared with the salaries of the heads of the state institutions. Directors of the Home in a statement issued Saturday defend the management and say Mr. Sehon's salary does not include living expenses and is not paid from the state appropriation of $50,000.

The situation in Mexico seems to be growing constantly worse. Three hundred Americans located in southern Tamaulipas, representing sixty-eight families, have demanded in a long message to President Wilson, sent through Consul Miller there, to know, "once for all," whether they can expect protection from their home government since they "do not desire to take measures for our own safety which would embarrass our government without giving due notice before hand." They further say: "Having been left without any protection whatever on the part of both sides in the pending controversy, therefore we can look for protection only from our home country. We must know once for all if we can expect same. Having been subjected to slights and a great variety of indignities and gross abuse during the last few days, the situation calls for most serious preparations for our personal safety and the defense of our families and our interests. Therefore we have assembled for the purpose of considering the best way. We consider protection necessary now, since after death it will be of no utility."

ANKLE BROKEN IN RUNAWAY

Almost Miraculous Escape of Family In Another Buggy.

WM. MORRIS ONLY VICTIM.

Was Carried to Sanitarium and Properly Cared For.

William Morris, aged about 19, a son of Esq. and Mrs. J. M. Morris, on the Russellville pike, was the victim of a runaway last Sunday afternoon, sustaining a badly broken ankle.

Young Morris was driving a horse attached to a buggy and was coming into town when his horse became frightened and ran away. In Morris' efforts to hold the animal in, the bit broke when he reached Luckett O'Nan's home, near the city line. The horse continued his mad run until he reached Prof. Roberts' residence when he collided with a buggy standing at the sidewalk. In the buggy were a man, his wife and three little children. The buggy in which the family was seated was completely demolished, but strange to say, not one of them was injured.

Young Morris' horse was brought to a stop by the collision but made another start up the hill towards the college. When the horse had gotten some distance up the hill Morris jumped from his buggy. In jumping he struck the ground with such force that his right ankle was broken, the broken bone piercing through the flesh.

Morris was taken to the Infirmary in an automobile and physicians were summoned who set the broken limb. The male members of the Morris family have been singularly unfortunate. A few years ago Esq. Morris lost one of his arms, which was caught in a cornshredder. A couple of years after one of his boys was run over at the main entrance of the Western Hospital by an automobile and seriously injured. The young man injured Sunday was getting along nicely, but it will be several days before he will be taken home.

WIDE OPEN TOWN

Good Government Ticket Defeated In Female Suffrage Town

Los Angeles, June 6.—Enthusiastic crowds thronged the streets to cheer the overthrow in the election of the Good Government organization which has been in the ascendant in city politics since the recall of Mayor Harper five years ago. The announcement of the election to the mayorality of Police Judge H. H. Rose, an independent candidate who ran without the support of one of the six newspapers of the city, caused the demonstrations.

Complete returns give Rose a majority of 9,026 over John W. Shenk, the figures being: Rose, 46,045; Shenk, 37,019.

Outlining his policy, Mayor-elect Rose said the number of saloons in the city—two hundred—would not be increased. The social evil, he said, would be treated in sane manner.

"Insane treatment of this evil results in a much worse form of immorality," said the Mayor-elect. "I was a Police Judge nine years and believe I know how to treat this question. I will establish better morality in this city than exists at the present time."

This is the first general local election in which the women have voted. Their votes were more than enough to decide the election and their attitude in the matter was closely watched. It looks like there were not enough good women who voted to offset the votes of those favoring a "wide open town."

Will Conduct a Question Box Here Chautauqua Week

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK OF MISSOURI.

ONE of the features of Folk day at our Chautauqua will be the question box which former Governor Folk will conduct at the close of his lecture. Mr. Folk has for years made a study of governmental problems, and he is qualified by official experiences, as well as by research, to give the information on these questions that many people so much desire. Any one may place questions in the question box regarding any governmental matter or national problem which they would wish to hear him discuss.

Closing Event Thursday Night At College Auditorium.

McLean College closes one of its most prosperous school years Thursday night.

When it is recalled that the building was completely wiped out by fire in February last year and a new building, much longer and altogether modern in every way stands on the old site, that by persistent work and wise management on the part of President Kuykendall, Prof. H. Foster, backed by the board of directors and the liberal and hearty contribution that poured in from the people of the city and county, McLean is today better in every way than ever before. Everybody is prepared to say "well done." Where else could so much have been accomplished in so short a time?

The exercises for today, tomorrow and Thursday are given below:

TUESDAY.

DIED SUNDAY AT LaFAYETTE

Mrs. L. W. Pendleton Lived Only Few Days After Operation.

SISTER KILLED ONE WEEK AGO.

Remains Were Laid To Rest Last Sunday.

Within a week after the killing of her sister, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. L. W. Pendleton died at her home last Saturday night.

Mrs. Pendleton had been ill with peritonitis for some time and her physicians did all they could for her relief, and as a last resort the deceased submitted to an operation a little more than a week before her death.

After the operation Mrs. Pendleton sent word to Mrs. Miller to come to her bedside. Saturday, May 31, Mrs. Miller answered the call of her sister and spent part of that day and night with her, starting home Sunday afternoon in a buggy with her son. The horse they were driving ran off and Mrs. Miller and son were thrown from the buggy, Mrs. Miller receiving injuries from which she died in a few minutes.

Mrs. Pendleton was buried Sunday afternoon. She was a daughter of Al. Crenshaw. She is survived by her husband, no children having blessed their union.

The stork visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Almon Browning, Jr. Sunday and left a son, John Almon Browning, the third.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD

Society For Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is Organized.

ALL OFFICERS ARE NAMED

President of the State Society Spoke of Duties of the Organization.

The meeting Friday night of those who favored the organization in the city and county of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals was an enthusiastic one.

The meeting was held in the Avalon and the principal speaker was Mr. Harry W. Robinson, of Louisville. Mr. Robinson is President of the State society, and is organizing societies in different parts of the state. In the course of his remarks Mr. Robinson told of many instances of most cruel treatment of animals that had come under his observation. The societies have done a great work and new societies will be formed wherever the people feel that such outrageous treatment is known.

The organization was perfected by the selection of the following officers:

C. F. Jarrett, president; W. A. Wilgus, vice president; Mrs. Green Henry Russell, secretary and treasurer, Miss Jennie Glass, assistant secretary and treasurer.

The executive committee was selected as follows: George C. Long, George E. Gary, R. E. Cooper, M. V. Dulin, W. T. Cooper, M. C. Forbes, Mrs. James Cooper, Sr., Mrs. W. A. Radford, Mrs. Jouett Henry, Mrs. M. H. Tandy, Miss Fannie Phelps, Mrs. G. E. Gary, Mrs. George Kolb, Mrs. Vitas Gates.

Free Marriages.

Chicago, June 6.—The Rev. Almer Pennewell solemnized the first "anti-graft" marriage Wednesday since his recent announcement that he believed fees accepted by ministers for officiating at weddings were nothing less than a graft and that in the future he would make no charge for this service. He also asserted that couples must "present clean bills of health from reputable physicians."

MRS. LUKE LEA MUCH BETTER

Tennessee Senator's Wife is Taking Von Ruck Tuberculosis Treatment.

Mrs. Luke Lea, wife of the senior Senator from Tennessee, is, her friends will be glad to know, much improved in health. Mrs. Lea has for some time past been at Denver, Col., for her health, and recently went to Asheville, N. C., where she rented a cottage for the summer months, it being thought that the change would still further benefit her, and her desire, too, being to locate where she would be accessible to both Washington and Nashville.

After Mrs. Lea reached Asheville Dr. Von Ruck, who has been brought into much prominence through his anti-tuberculosis serum, called upon Mrs. Lea and he is now her attending physician. Her relatives all say that Mrs. Lea is steadily improving, is gaining in weight and her friends hope, with cause, that she will soon be entirely restored to perfect health.

Goes Abroad.

Rev. T. C. Gebauer, of Henderson, who is well known here by reason of his connection with the County Sunday School Association, leaves today for a trip abroad. He will be gone two months and will be a Kentucky delegate to the World's Sunday School Convention at Zurich, Switzerland, July 8-16.

Paying Fines in Installments.

Gov. Foss, of Massachusetts, recently discovered that some 9,000 or 10,000 persons were being sent to jail every year in that State because of their inability to pay fines. The offenses of which these persons were convicted were of comparatively trivial nature. In many instances a term of imprisonment meant little more than that a needy family had been deprived for a time of the services of a breadwinner.

A special message has been sent to the Legislature by Gov. Foss urging that the statutes be amended so that a person convicted may be given time in which to liquidate his fine. The Governor believes the law should provide that such fines may be paid in installments to court probation officers. He would have it obligatory upon the court to suspend the execution of a sentence to jail "unless the court finds that the delinquent probably will default if given time to pay, or that his release will be against public interest."

If permitted by law the courts could well afford to exercise some discretion in such cases. The Police Courts in most cities are mainly occupied with the trial of small offenses. A jail sentence is manifestly proper in some instances, while in others it serves no good purpose to inflict such punishment and may work hardships. It is scarcely advisable to put a man in jail, if being guilty of some small infraction of the law and unable to pay the fine assessed, he evinces a disposition to pay in installments. If incarcerated he is for the time being without ability to earn money. He cannot pay and, what is worse, if he be the head of a family, he cannot contribute to the support of that family. In the meantime he is being fed and lodged at the public expense.—Courier-Journal.

The above is taken from the editorial columns of the Courier-Journal. It would not be possible to advocate a more unwise policy in the matter discussed. It was tried in Hopkinsville for many years and found to be an entire failure. Hardly half of the fines were paid and the Chief of Police was required to perform troublesome duties as a collector from the worst classes of people, that were never intended to be imposed upon him. As soon as the credit system was abolished the cash receipts were doubled and the effect was good in other ways. Many offenders will behave themselves when confronted by the certainty of a jail sentence. The really deserving cases can be handled by the courts or the pardon boards. The present Kentucky law requiring fines to be repaid, paid or worked out is good enough. Let it alone.

Percy Said Goodbye.

New York, June 9.—John C. C. Mayo, of Kentucky, ex-Senator C. W. Watson, of West Virginia, and Congressman Slemo, of West Virginia, who have just completed a $30,000,000 deal in Eastern Kentucky, sailed Wednesday for London on the Crown Prince Wilhelm on a business and pleasure trip.

Gen. Percy Haley, Kentucky, said goodbye to the party at the pier. Mr. Mayo and his friends will go to Carlsbad before returning.

Jack Stuart Dead.

Frankfort, Ky., June 6.—John H. Stuart, for more than thirty years a newspaper correspondent of this city and secretary of the State Election Board, died Wednesday night in Dawson Springs, where he went last Monday, hoping to recuperate from an attack of illness with which he had been confined to his bed about six weeks.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter. The body will arrive in Frankfort tonight.

DUTY OF PARENTS.

Summarizing the parents' duties, a writer in the Mothers' Magazine says:

"To that child they owe the daily revelation of the best of their natures. The child must see that unfaithfulness to its own, to the stranger, to the state and to God is the real working purpose of life, and that love is the handmaiden of loyalty. Then shall constancy unfold within its heart, open with the undying fragrance of the roses of unyielding faith in all that is true."

WORDS OF PRAISE WELCOMED

Much Truth in Saying That Most of Us Do Better "When We Are Applauded."

Said a dear old pastor: "Many years ago I heard the Peet family in concert. When the children came marching on the stage, the audience cheered them loudly. As the applause died away, the father said: 'I thank you very much; my children always sing better when they are applauded.' Since that night we have used the words as a proverb in the family, and they have done more than you can at first realize to sweeten the home life. I have learned that my children, too, always 'sing better when they are applauded.'"

"Yes," spoke up the pastor's gentle wife, "father has helped me more than once with his aphorism. When I began housekeeping my mother let me have her maid. She had been with me but a few weeks when she told me she must leave, she could stand it no longer. I was dismayed at the thought of losing the woman who for years had been my mother's most trusted maid, and I finally managed to stammer, 'Why Eliza! Why do you go?' 'Because you are never satisfied,' was her answer. I looked at her a moment in astonishment; then it all came to me. When the work went wrong I had always spoken and called her attention to it; but when it went right I had said nothing. Henceforth, I determined to applaud the good. I asked her if she would stay until I found another girl. She did so, and I had her many years—nursed her in her last illness. I, too, believe that 'we sing better when we are applauded.'—Mother's Magazine.

STRONG FIGURE OF SPEECH

Colored Deacon's Prayer Lacked Nothing in Force Because Couched in Primitive Language.

One of the English instructors at the University of Kansas makes a hobby of forceful and picturesque language. Primitive people, he contends, because of their scant supply of words, are forced to use figures of speech to express themselves and, consequently, use much more picturesque language than the educated classes, which have an extensive vocabulary from which to pick and choose.

"I had been invited to deliver an address at the dedication of a colored church in Richmond," says the minister, "and at its conclusion, in recognition of the tireless efforts of an aged colored deacon to collect funds for the new edifice, I invited him to offer prayer. He included me in his supplication something like this:

"Gib this pore brudder de eye of de eagle, dat he spy out sin afar off. Glue his hands to de gospel plow. Tie his tongue to de line of truf. Nail his years to de gospel pole. Bow his head way down between his knees, O, Lord, and fix his knees way down in some lonely, dark and narrow valley, where prayer is much wanted to be made. 'Noint him with de kerosene ile of salvation, and set him afire!'"—Kansas City Star.

HERS WAS THE RULING SPIRIT

Jim Baggs Had the Physical Strength, but Little Woman the Dominating Brain.

He gave palpable evidence of weighing at least 240, and he towered six feet four inches into the air. He looked as if the champion heavyweight of the prize ring might go down before him like a reed before the wind. By his side stood a little woman of five feet ten and possible ninety pounds in weight. She had the meek look of a woman who had borne much. While they waited for their car on a corner a passerby heard the giant say:

"Can't you let me have a quarter, Jennie?"

Jennie's voice cut the air like a blade as she said:

"Now, see here, Jim Baggs, didn't I tell you before we left home that ten cents was all I intended you should have to spend? I sure did, an' I should think you had been married to me long enough to know that when I say a thing I mean it! I think I see you havin' a whole quarter to fool away on seegars an' such stuff! Now you make any more fuss and you'll stay at home the next time I come to town!"—Judge.

ABSENT-MINDED.

Following a meeting of a woman's club recently, several young North side matrons were discussing their husbands.

"Jack is so absent-minded," said one, "that I frequently have to find his hat for him."

"That's nothing," said another, "the other day I noticed Harry looking through the city directory for the definition of a word."—Youngstown Telegram.

NO MORE LOSSES.

"How's your chicken farm?"

"Say, I'm glad you asked me. You know, I told you it was mostly outgo, with mighty little coming in? Well, I haven't lost a dollar on the outfit for a month or more."

"Fine. How does it happen?"

"Some thoughtful coopbreaker stole all the chickens."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

VARIETY.

"What a relief it is to get into the country!"

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornfossel. "Folks is allus wantin' a change. I feel like gettin' to town sometimes an' bein' chased by an automobile instid of a bull."

ITS STATUS.

"What's become of the Ananias club?"

"It's lying low."

"But still lying?"

PARADOX.

"I'd like to give you some beauty wrinkles."

"I didn't know there were such things."

HAULING THE CHAUTAUQUA SEATS.

THE above photograph represents a typical scene on the arrival of the big Redpath Chautauqua in a town—a Chautauqua such as we are to have here this season. Usually a half dozen big teams and wagons are required to haul the seats from the depot to the Chautauqua tent.

Most Children Have Worms.

Many mothers think their children are suffering from indigestion, headache, nervousness, weakness, costiveness, when they are victims of that most common of all children's ailments—worms. Peevish, ill-tempered, fretful children, who toss and grind their teeth, with bad breath and colicky pains, have all the symptoms of having worms, and should be given Kickapoo Worm Killer, a pleasant candy lozenge, which expels worms, regulates the bowels, tones up the system, and makes children well and happy. Kickapoo Worm Killer is guaranteed All druggists, or by mail. Price 25c. Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Risky.
A well-known shipper, introducing a new brand of champagne, met Charles Hawtrey at the club luncheon table. "You are so well known, Mr. Hawtrey," he said, "and your opinion carries such weight that you would be doing me a great favor if, when ordering champagne, you would ask for my brand."

"Certainly," said Mr. Hawtrey. "I'd be delighted to do so."

The shipper was profuse in his thanks.

"Not at all," said Hawtrey; "but, I say, old chap, how jolly awkward for me if they should have it."—London Opinion.

Not Twelve Daily.

Angry Purchaser—Didn't you tell me that you had got as many as twelve eggs in one day from those eight hens you sold me?

Poultry Raiser—Yes, ma'am.

Angry Purchaser—Then why is it that I'm never able to get more than two eggs from them and sometimes not so many in one day?

Poultry Raiser—I don't know, ma'am, unless it's because you look for eggs too often. Now, if you look for them only once a week I feel quite positive you will get just as many eggs in one day as I did.—Weekly Telegraph.

Horrible Thought.

Mrs. Pneuritch had ordered an outfit good enough to wear when riding in the splendid new automobile.

"Well, I guess that's all," she said. "O, no, madam; you'll need a veil," suggested the dressmaker.

"A veil? What for?"

"To protect your complexion from the fierce winds."

"But, goodness alive! If I have to wear a veil over my face how will anybody know who I am?"

Drifted Apart.

"Yes; the engagement is off."

"What came between two loving hearts?"

"I hardly know. I told her I was unworthy of her and she agreed with me so heartily on that point that our courtship kind of languished after that."

An Inducement.

"Now, if you don't study, Johnny, you'll never get to be president."

"I don't want to be president. Presidents don't have no fun."

"They don't, hey? They get season passes to all the big league games."

HARD TO FIND MORAL HERE

Warden's Little Act of Dishonesty Saved His Life Through Discovery He Made.

A Warsaw bookkeeper named Schneider was awaiting his trial, being charged with fraud. As his health was bad his family sent him many little delicacies unknown to the prison fare, delicacies which, doubtless, his custodian shared. One day, amongst other things, a huge iced cake appeared. The warden's children were fond of cake, so was his wife. They therefore determined to annex half the cake for their own consumption. Their astonishment was great when, upon applying a knife to the dainty, it stuck below the icing and refused to budge.

"It must be baked to a cinder," said Mrs. Warden.

But her husband, suspecting that something worse than careless baking was responsible for the cake's hardness, cut round the sides, and was rewarded by finding a revolver and seven cartridges buried in the paste.

When arraigned before the authorities Schneider confessed that he had intended to shoot his jailers and escape from limbo before his trial.

"After all," said the warden, pensively, when relating the episode, "honesty is not always the best policy. If my wife had not cut into that cake I should have been a dead man by now, for I sleep hard."

Ulcers and Skin Troubles.

If you are suffering with any old, running or fever sores, ulcers, boils, eczema or other skin troubles, get a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and you will get relief promptly. Mrs. Bruce Jones, of Birmingham, Ala., suffered from an ugly ulcer for nine months and Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured her in two weeks. Will help you. Only 25c. Recommended by all druggists.

INFERENCE.

"The native tribes that missionary went out to were so glad to see him they fairly ate him up."

"Why, were they cannibals?"

PRACTICAL SENTIMENT.

She—Oh, don't you just adore the dear little lambs?

He—Yes, especially with green peas and mint sauce.

ACCOUNTING FOR THE CUT.

Patience—He has fine-cut features, hasn't he?

Patience—Yes, he shaves himself, I believe.

Delegates from the Stemming District Association, American Society of Equity, Green River Association and the Farmers' Union, all of the organizations in this district with which tobacco growers are affiliated, were in attendance. The new association is intended, it is said, to take the place of those organizations, in so far as the pooling of tobacco is concerned.

There were at least 1,000 growers present, every county being represented with the exception of Crittenden. Dr. D. A. Amoss, of Caldwell county, was present and took an active interest in the meeting. It is thought that a majority of the growers in the district will soon be in the new association.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh of the Eustachian Tube, if you can cure it. Send for circulars free.

PROF. FOSTER

Resigns His Place as Instructor in McLean College.

Last week Prof. A. C. Kuykendall, President of McLean College, received Prof. L. E. Foster's resignation as a member of the faculty of the college. His reason for resigning the position he has so well filled for five years is that he is in the race for the nomination for County Superintendent of Scotland, and as he is making an active canvass throughout the county, his college duties would interfere with his plans to secure nomination at the August primaries.

The following is self explanatory: Hopkinsville, Ky., June, 1913. To President A. C. Kuykendall and Trustees of McLean College:

Dear Sirs: In view of the fact that I am now an applicant for the office of Superintendent of Commerce and Industry of Christian county and intend to make a vigorous campaign for same and realizing that I could not at the same time continue satisfactorily my work in the college, I herewith tender my resignation as professor of history and economics in McLean College. I wish also to thank you kindly for the membership in the faculty of McLean College which I have enjoyed for the five years just passed. They have been five good years, I believe, and I am loath to leave the old school, but duty seems to call elsewhere.

Sincerely yours, L. E. FOSTER

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 5, 1913. Mr. L. E. Foster, Dear Sir:

Your letter of resignation is before me. Allow me to say that although we have had intimations from you that you would not be an applicant for re-election, we accept your final action with much regret.

During the years you have been with us there has never been cause for complaint on the part of the management or the patrons concerning your work, and the decision to make the change was spontaneous with you. We wish you the greatest measure of success and prosperity.

Sincerely yours, A. C. KUYKENDALL, President McLean College.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the price of a Weekly.

No Other Newspaper in the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

CATHERINE

Catherine was carrying a basket of laundry to Mme. von Finkelstein. The basket hung heavy on her arm though she was strong.

Just then Colonel von Finkelstein crossed the street to enter the barracks. The young girl rested her basket on the snow-covered sidewalk to see the sentry guard suddenly transformed into a rigid statue. It never seemed that the things was done naturally. But the gray mantle of the officer disappeared through the gate and the muscled of the soldier, suddenly relaxed. Evidently she was admiring him, so he smiled at Catherine, a smile which covered his whole broad face from ear to ear.

The little laundry girl blushed, snatched up her basket and hurried on.

"You conceited fool," she muttered. The expression of disgust and contempt told the man of his mistake.

Catherine hurried toward Finkelstein's house, half wishing and half dreading to meet the colonel's orderly, a handsome Bavarian, who, although he was serving only in the infantry, made love like a hussar.

Should it really be possible that this girl who had shown such contempt of the sentry might be susceptible to the love of a "Prussian?" Perhaps not quite, but there was in Catherine a little Eve, who was never asleep. Sure enough the man who wore the kaiser's uniform was nothing but a foreigner; but the forbidden fruit always attracted the daughters of Eve, and this fellow was really so good looking and charming that Catherine sometimes designed to listen to him.

Suddenly she shivered. She thought of her grandmother, her only living relative, with whom she lived. The old woman was not a little worried to see how her pretty granddaughter attracted young men. They came to the laundry under all kinds of pretenses, and sometimes without any pretense whatever. She knew very well that unselfish suitors are exceedingly rare. Her old heart trembled at the thought that Catherine might become inveigled into a love affair which might dishonor their name. But that Catherine might throw herself into the arms of a "schwab" was a thought which never entered the mind of the old Alsacienne, whose husband had fought valiantly in the Crimea war and the dreadful fight of 1871.

"If she knew—" Catherine thought. She felt just a little ashamed now and walked more slowly. She dreaded the idea of causing the dear old woman a moment's sorrow, but she was young, her life was so dreary and monotonous that she could not resist the temptation of listening to the compliments of the handsome and gay flatterer.

She entered the villa, handed over the laundry to Mme. von Finkelstein's chambermaid. She was about to leave the house once more without as much as looking backward when she felt a hand on her arm.

"How proud you are today, pretty one; won't you ever say how do you do to me?"

The merry blue eyes of the Bavarian enjoyed the young girl's embarrassment.

"I—I was in a hurry—I am late—"

"Never mind. I forgive you. One always forgives a pretty girl everything. But tell me, little one, when are you going to meet me as you promised?"

"Why! I don't know that I ever—"

"Now you are just trying to tease me."

"Oh, how can you say such a thing?"

Somebody called from the floor above.

"Must go," said the young man.

"But listen, Catherine! When you go to the midnight mass tonight, leave home a little earlier than usual. I will be waiting outside the barracks at eleven o'clock and we will have a nice chat, you and I. Will you come?"

Sure of his victory, he stooped down to kiss her, but Catherine slipped away from him with a laugh. She had not asserted herself, but she was well aware that she had not denied her inquisitor, either.

Never had Catherine worked as swiftly as today. Her iron never rested, and piles of laundry were done up by her busy hands with amazing rapidity. Still her thoughts were not with her work. Should she go? Should she not? She struggled with herself, but could not decide.

She did not notice how often her grandmother's eyes rested on her and how the old woman shook her head as if she had an idea of what was going on in the young girl's mind. When dusk came she went up to Catherine and said: "Surely, you have worked enough today, and besides it is a holy evening tonight, dear."

"So it is, grandma," Catherine sighed.

"I have a little surprise for you, dear. Just because you are such a good girl, I have a little reward for you."

She led Catherine from the laundry into their only living room, which had to serve as kitchen and bedroom as well.

"Oh, grandma," cried Catherine in delight.

On the table was a Christmas tree, a pretty little fir tree with a score of candles, and trimmed with tinsel, apples and gilt walnuts. At the foot of the tree were mysterious parcels. Catherine stood looking at the tree in silence for several minutes until the old woman put the parcels into her hands.

"Is it really Christmas gifts for me?" she cried.

The old woman smiled and watched Catherine's deft fingers opening the parcels.

"Why, grandma, it is the green kerchief I have admired so much! And silk ribbons and a warm petticoat, and an Alsacian apron of real linen! Oh, grandma, I feel so ashamed that I have nothing at all for you."

"We old people don't need anything, dearest. We have our souvenirs."

The girl looked around and saw on the other side of the tree all grandma's precious relics: Grandfather's silver watch, her mother's earrings and a golden locket.

Suddenly she trembled. Through the mist she saw a picture of her grandfather in the French emperor's uniform.

Catherine started at these relics representing the past, the glorious past of her ancestors. Her heart beat violently, a lump came into her throat and her eyes filled with tears. She felt how near she had come to commit the dreadful crime of dishonoring her people; but now she was safe. Her nerves were no longer able to withstand the shock and she threw herself into her grandmother's arms sobbing.

"Thank you, grandma, thank you."

The old woman understood that the moment was critical and whispered into her grandchild's ear:

"At the midnight mass tonight, dear, pray for our dead."—Chicago American.

I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four different doctors, but got no relief, so I began to take Cardui. Now I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years success. As a tonic there is nothing in the drug store like it. As a remedy for women's ills, it has no equal. Try it. FRENCH PASTRIES IN DEMAND

First Served by Fashionable Hotels,
They Have Been Taken Up by Hostesses Who Are Up to Date.

The increase in the number of good patissierie shops where really delicious French pastries can be purchased probably accounts for the serving of French pastries for dessert at the home table just as they have been served for years in the big hotels and restaurants. There a special boy goes about with a huge silver platter filled with concoctions that make the mouth water and the purse strings open.
When the diner or luncheon chooses the sort he desires the boy deftly removes it with a wide bladed silver knife.
Nowadays the home hostess has the maid pass French pastries at luncheon and dinner. They are passed on a big platter and naturally each guest chooses the particular sort which appeals to him.

Many of them are simply boat shaped shells of puff paste filled with fruit of some sort. Grapes, covered with rich syrup, are sometimes used for filling; and strawberries, luscious and ripe, combined with a syrup, can also be used. Some of the pastries are made in layers of puff paste with an appetizing and delicate cream or almond paste or fruit filling between.

These interesting pastries really help to solve one of the housewife's many worries, for they constitute a dessert which is easily procured and which is a welcome relief from ices and creams and the more usual sweets served.—New York Times.

GET BUSY WITH CHAFING DISH

Many Delicious Concoctions May Be Prepared for the Late or Sunday Night Supper.

A light, but fairly substantial edible, served piping hot, directly from a chafing dish, adds immensely to the informal Sunday night supper. Creamed salmon is delicious and is easy to prepare in a chafing dish. Use the hot-water pan first, brown a little butter and sprinkle crumbed bread into it, turning over until crisp. Set these crisped crumbs aside and proceed with the blazer pan, to make a simple bechamel or cream sauce, first melting a tablespoon of butter, stirring in a tablespoon of flour and adding a scant cup of milk. Season this fairly-thick white sauce with salt, pepper and a few drops of lemon juice.
Stir in a can of salmon and when steaming hot and ready to serve, shake over the top the browned crumbs. The creamed salmon may be served without the bread crumbs, but they add an appetizing flavor, suggestive of the browned crust over a hot dish prepared in the oven.

Cream of Celery.

From the Caterer we take the following recipe, and for family use each can reduce the quantities to suit.
Even in using the leaves and poorer parts of one head only the recipes of the best chefs will be a good foundation for experiment and adaptation.

Remove the outside stalks from 12 heads of celery, keeping the hearts to be eaten raw. Cut up these stalks in small pieces, wash well, drain and set in a pan with a piece of butter; cover the pan and cook over a slow fire.

When the celery is nearly done, moisten with one gallon of lightly thickened chicken or veal stock, allow to cook for 15 minutes, and then rub through a fine sieve; pour the soup into a clean pan, let boil and clear from scum. Season with salt, pepper and a pinch of sugar, and before serving bind with one pint of cream, six eggs and four ounces of butter. Serve small fried crusts of bread separately.

Jelly Custards.

One scant coffee cup sugar, one-half cup acid jelly, one heaping tablespoon cornstarch, two cups sweet milk, yolks two eggs beaten light, butter
the size of walnut. Sift cornstarch and sugar into a bowl, pour the milk over this, beating constantly to prevent lumping, then add the well beaten egg yolks. Place jelly and butter on stove to melt and beat them slowly into the first ingredients. Set of stove and cook until mixture begins to thicken; stir continually to prevent scorching. Pour into a baked crust and make meringue for top of whiter.
Set in oven for a few minutes until golden brown. It must be perfectly cold before serving.

Boiled Salmon Steak.

Boil a pint of broth or water with a small bunch of celery, half a teaspoonful of salt, quarter saltspoonful of pepper and a tablespoonful of vinegar. Cut the steaks in suitable pieces and put the fragments and bones in the boiling liquid. Place the salmon in a clean saucepan and strain the seasoned brother over it; cover and let boil briskly for ten minutes. Serve in a deep dish with the liquor instead of sauce. The full flavor and the richness of the fish are preserved in this dish.

Marmalade of Rhubarb.

Two quarts rhubarb, two pints sugar
two oranges, juice of one and grated rind of one; one cupful chopped raisins. Cut the rhubarb in pieces, cover it with sugar and let it stand overnight, then add other fruit and cook until thick. It can be made without raisins.

Orange and Prune Salad.

Steam a dozen large prunes until they are puffy; then cool and remove the pits. Cut the prunes in two and mix with an equal quantity of orange sulp. When serving, place a tablespoonful of tart boiled dressing, mixed with whipped cream, on each helping.

THAT NEW SCHOOL OF ART

"Selfish" Was the Verdict Passed by One Spectator Who Viewed the Cubist Pictures.

Among many echoes of the recent international exhibition of modern art in New York is a remark reported by one of those who made a business of listening to the talk of the persons present whose raised tones indicated the pleased consciousness of an audience.

These naturally were apt to be the pretenders, the false prophets, who pinch gems of thoughts and epigrammatic dicta with forefinger and thumb out of thin air—a favorite gesture.

However, the remark in question was made by a little woman who was not of that sort. "Do you think that the artist understood what he painted?" she asked of her companion as they stood before a Cubist canvas.

"Oh, yes," answered the companion generously.

"But isn't it a selfish way to paint!" she commented.

Yet another stood before a Cubist picture which had the general effect of a fogged biograph film. He looked long and earnestly.

"Well," he said at last, "we know now all the crimes that the man who used to make composite photographs of all the presidents and such things

DEMONSTRATION'S SIGNIFICANCE

"What does a 'like' prove in the way of fitness for the ballot?" asked he.

"It proves," replied she, "that we don't belong to the class of citizenship that would stay away from the polls because traveling happened to be inconvenient and uncomfortable."

CONSIDERATE EMPLOYER.

"I don't know how to refuse a girl employment. I hate to send 'em away feeling downcast."

"I always send 'em away smiling.
Tell 'em frankly they're so good looking that they might disturb the office work."

Cordial Invitation to Become Real Members of the Redpath Family

We have chosen this community as the center for one of our chautauquas because we have faith in the enterprise, enthusiasm, and genuine chautauqua spirit of your citizens. We believe that the program we are offering this season eclipses any seven-day chautauqua program ever presented and likewise we have confidence in the ability of the people of this section to appreciate good things.

But not only do we invite you to attend, but to become real members of the big Redpath family, both by fellowship with your friends at the chautauqua grounds, and by making the acquaintance of the management, the superintendents, and of the live young college men who comprise the tent crews. Cordially yours,

HARRY P. HARRISON,

Pres. and Gen. Mgr. Redpath Chautauquas.

Game at Crofton.

Crofton, Ky., June 7.—The Crofton sluggers defeated the Earlington team here, the score being 10 to 1. Fay was in fine form and let the visitors down with only three hits. A large crowd was out to see the contest, as it was the first game played in the new park. The new park here is a dandy, with an elegant grand stand of commodious seating capacity. Games have already been booked for the entire season and some exciting contests are anticipated.

Bob Taylor Lives,

In the two bright and beautiful books just issued, "Lectures and Best Literary Productions," and "Life and Career" of Senator Robert Love Taylor, handsomely illustrated, you cannot hear again his voice or see the humorous curl of his lips, that convulsed a continent with laughter, but, within the covers of these volumes, are the pictures woven of his wondrous words, and, laughing through their sunny pages, are all of the inimitable stories which he told to the multitudes. In "Life and Career," pens of genius have traced his romantic life from its morning in "Happy Valley," through his young and roseate dreams, through stress and storm, through cheering throngs, and on into the waiting shadows, loved and laurel crowned.

We expect to sell millions of these books. First edition going fast.
